A Daring Rescue by Space Pirates is the second book in The Oldest Earthling series. Tom is a teenager who is part of an expedition across the stars to start a colony on a new world. He doesn't really want to be there, but was dragged along on the mission by his parents. The first book covers their thousand-year journey to get to the new planet. Tom spends most of the journey hibernating, but is forced to spring into action at the end to save the ship and everyone on board.

This new book begins with the birth of the colony, and some startling discoveries the colonists make as they explore their new home. The more they learn, the more dire things begin to look. Soon, it becomes clear that the colony is going to need outside help if it is going to survive. But how can a colony light-years from Earth get help in time?

More importantly, how can Tom impress the girl he likes after she discovers he's been lying to her?
